December 5th, 2019 - We study the average condition number for polynomial eigenvalues of collections of matrices drawn from some random matrix ensembles. In particular we prove that polynomial eigenvalue problems defined by matrices with random Gaussian entries are very well conditioned on the average.' Phys Titles Atomic Physics Astrophysics

November 27th, 2019 - 2 An overview of the 2+1 string theory The 2+1 string theory provides a potentially unifying framework for the various known string theories. In this section we firstly present an overview of this string theory and in particular the origin of the null U(1) current for more details see the Cargèse lectures of Martinec 4'
